In Years 7 and 8, students interact with peers, teachers, individuals, groups and community members in a range of face-to-face and online/virtual environments. They experience learning in both familiar and unfamiliar contexts that relate to the school curriculum, local community, regional and global contexts.

Students engage with a variety of texts for enjoyment. They listen to, read, view, interpret, evaluate and perform a range of spoken, written and multimodal texts in which the primary purpose is aesthetic, as well as texts designed to inform and persuade. These include various types of media texts including newspapers, magazines and digital texts, early adolescent novels, non-fiction, poetry and dramatic performances. Students develop their understanding of how texts, including media texts, are influenced by context, purpose and audience.

The range of literary texts for Foundation to Year 10 comprises Australian literature, including the oral narrative traditions of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, as well as the contemporary literature of these two cultural groups, and classic and contemporary world literature, including texts from and about Asia.

Literary texts that support and extend students in Years 7 and 8 as independent readers are drawn from a range of realistic, fantasy, speculative fiction and historical genres and involve some challenging and unpredictable plot sequences and a range of non-stereotypical characters. These texts explore themes of interpersonal relationships and ethical dilemmas within real-world and fictional settings and represent a variety of perspectives. Informative texts present technical and content information from various sources about specialised topics. Text structures are more complex including chapters, headings and subheadings, tables of contents, indexes and glossaries. Language features include successive complex sentences with embedded clauses, unfamiliar technical vocabulary, figurative and rhetorical language, and information supported by various types of graphics presented in visual form.

Students create a range of imaginative, informative and persuasive types of texts, for example narratives, procedures, performances, reports and discussions, and begin to create literary analyses and transformations of texts.

Receptive modes (listening, reading and viewing)
By the end of Year 8, students understand how the selection of text structures is influenced by the selection of language mode and how this varies for different purposes and audiences. Students explain how language features, images and vocabulary are used to represent different ideas and issues in texts. Students interpret texts, questioning the reliability of sources of ideas and information. They select evidence from the text to show how events, situations and people can be represented from different viewpoints. They listen for and identify different emphases in texts, using that understanding to elaborate upon discussions.

Productive modes (speaking, writing and creating)
Students understand how the selection of language features can be used for particular purposes and effects. They explain the effectiveness of language choices they use to influence the audience. Through combining ideas, images and language features from other texts, students show how ideas can be expressed in new ways.

Students create texts for different purposes, selecting language to influence audience response. They make presentations and contribute actively to class and group discussions, using language patterns for effect. When creating and editing texts to create specific effects, they take into account intended purposes and the needs and interests of audiences. They demonstrate understanding of grammar, select vocabulary for effect and use accurate spelling and punctuation.
Year 8 Term 1 Overview

Focus of teaching and learning activities

WHAT’S NEWS!

This unit looks at the concept of ‘What is news?’ Students explore the delivery of news, primarily through the medium of the newspaper, although the areas of radio, television and Internet news coverage may also be explored.

Newspapers: form and function

- Function/history/types of newspapers
- Sections of a newspaper
- What is newsworthy?
- Front page – conventions, terminology
- Headlines
- News articles, conventions of writing
- Role of photographs in newspapers
- Fact vs. opinion – Letters to the Editor
- Newspaper advertising

On-line news

- Television news
- Radio news

Independent Reading

- One period per week – literary texts including novels, short stories, biographies, autobiographies and graphic novels
- Reading comprehension strategies using a range of short texts

Assessments

- Introductory writing activity
- Reading and responding to newspaper articles
- Newspaper article production
- Front page production
- Letter to the Editor
- Active listening and speaking
- Participation in class activities

Common assessment tasks, which are highlighted, will be used for moderation and kept in student portfolios. For each task, students will be provided with a task outline and a marking key.

Resources

- Teacher Reference resources
- West Australian and local newspapers
- Newspaper teaching resources – S/Drive
- Clickview
- ACARA Website

Explicit teaching of language skills

- Cohesive devices
- Colons, semi-colons, dashes, brackets
- Nominalisation
- Spelling strategies for more complex words
